

REPUBLIC OF KENYA IN THE HIGH COURT OF KENYA
AT MALINDI
Criminal Appeal 134 of 2006

KASSIM IBRAHIM MOHAMED..... APPELLANT

VS

REPUBLIC RESPONDENT

(From the Original conviction and in Kilifi Criminal Case No. 1133 of 2005 C. Obulutsa Esq SRM)

J U D G M E N T

The Appellant, Kassim Ibrahim Omar was charged in Count 1 of Trafficking in Narcotic Drugs contrary to Section 4(1) of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act No. 4 of 1994.

The particulars in Count 1 are that on the 18th day of November 2005 at Kwa Chokwe village in Kilifi District within the Coast Province jointly trafficked in Narcotic drugs by storing 257 sachets of heroin with a street value of ksh. 25,700/- in contravention of the said Act.

In count 2 of being in possession of Narcotic Drugs Contrary to Section 3(1) as read with Sub-section 2(A) of the Narcotics Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Control Act No. 4 of 1994.

The particulars in count 2 are that on the 18th day of November 2005 at Kwa Chokwe village Tezo in Kilifi district within the Coast province jointly were found in possession of Narcotic drugs to wit. 10 grammes of cannabis with a street value of ksh. 100/- in contravention of the said Act.

He was convicted on both counts and sentenced to a fine of sh. 1 million in default one year imprisonment and in addition 3 years imprisonment consecutively under Section 4(a) and in respect of count 2 to serve 2 years imprisonment to run concurrently with count one.

He has appealed against conviction and sentence.

No. 219043 Chief Inspector Thoya (PW1) was on duty on 18th March 2005 at Kilifi CID offices. He received a call that there were drug suspects at Tezo. In company of PC Diyo (PW2) and PC Gatimu (PW6) they rushed to Kwa Chokwe area and at Tezo they were directed to some two (2) houses. The first one was empty. In the second one they found three accused. One of them was the second accused and now appellant herein. They found, spread on a bed, 257 sachets and stubs of cigarettes of bhang which they suspected were drugs.

No. 49795 PC Diyo (PW2) was in the company of Chief Inspector Thoya (PW1). They went to Kwa Chokwe area and at Tezo, in a house, they recovered sachets of bhang and a powder in the process of being packed. He participated in the arrest of the appellant together with two others and recovery of the exhibits.

John K Njuga (PW3), a Government Chemist at Mombasa received several exhibits which included 10 sachets in an envelope and powder pale in colour, on 5th December 2005, from Cpl Langat (PW4). The powder and plant material were wrapped separately. He analysed the same and came to a conclusion that the plant material was cannabis sativa and the powder heroin.

Cpl Langat (PW4) investigated the case. He was handed over the exhibits and prepared the exhibit memo and certificate of recovery form. He took the exhibits to the Government Chemist for analysis. He produced the same as exhibits.

Fatuma Brasi (PW5), the owner of the farm where the appellant and others were arrested testified that she does not stay at the farm. However she had workers housed in the farm. The appellant was not one of them. She had no idea how the appellant happened to be at the farm.

P C Gatimu (PW6) was one of the arresting officers. He confirmed that the appellant and three others were caught in the act of parking sachets of bhang and heroin. He identified the exhibits recovered in court.

At the close of the case for the prosecution, the learned trial magistrate found that there was a case to answer.

Appellant herein, Kassim Ibrahim Mohammed, testified in his defence that he is a salesman at Kilifi. On 18th November, 2005, he met Mohammed Ali Mwinyi with his (Mwinyi's) driver. Together they went to Kilifi where they were arrested at Tezo with another person who had some packages. At the police station he was detained while the others were released.

Having carefully evaluated the evidence before him the learned trial magistrate convicted the appellant and sentenced him in count 1 to pay a fine of Sh. 1,000,000/= (one million) in default one year imprisonment. In addition thereto 3 years to run consecutively. In respect of count two (2) to serve two (2) years imprisonment to run concurrently.

The said conviction and sentence thus provoked this appeal.

The learned counsel for the appellant referred me to page 22 of the record where the learned trial magistrate said inter-alia that the exhibits were being prepared for distribution. He complained that preparation for distribution and sale is a term unknown to the Act. There was a grave error apparent on the face of the record.

He also took issue with the fact that there is no indication that the charge was read over and explained to the accused at the stage of compliance with Section 211 of the Criminal Procedure Code.

Last but not least, counsel complained that the judgment does not contain the points for determination, the decision thereon and the reasons for the decision as enjoined by the mandatory provisions of Section 169 of the Criminal Procedure Code.

Mr Ogoti, for the state, conceded the appeal on the ground that the judgment did not conform with the provisions of Section 169 of the Criminal Procedure Code.

Equally, Mr Ogoti conceded that the conviction was not based on charges preferred. He contended that the appellant was charged on count 1 with the offence of trafficking narcotic drugs and in count 2 with being in possession of narcotic drugs. Yet the learned trial magistrate convicted appellant of the offence of distribution also with which he was not charged. Counsel conceded that that was a grave error in law as preparation for distribution and sale is a term unknown to the Act.

Section 169 of the Criminal Procedure Code Provides:

“1. every such judgment shall, except as otherwise expressly provided by this Code, be written by or under the direction of the presiding officer of the court in the language of the court, and shall contain the point or points for determination, the decision thereon and the reasons for the decision, and shall be dated and signed by the presiding officer in open court at the time of pronouncing it.

2. in the case of a conviction, the judgment shall specify the offence of which, and the section of the Penal Code or other law under which, the accused person is convicted and the punishment to which he is sentenced.....”

It is clear to me, from the proceedings, that the judgment does not comply with the mandatory provisions of Section 169 of the Criminal Procedure Code in that it does not contain the point or points for determination, the decision thereon and the reasons for the decision. Furthermore, the conviction is partly based on a charge of distribution and sale which the appellant was not charged with. In any event preparation for distribution and sale is unknown offence under the Act.

Both the appellant advocate and the state counsel are of the view that a retrial would serve the ends of justice.

In FATEHALDI NANJI – VS – REPUBLIC (1966) EA 345 the Court of Appeal for Eastern Africa held that:

“In general a retrial will be ordered only when the original trial was illegal or defective. It will not be ordered where the conviction is set aside because of insufficiency of evidence or for the purpose of enabling the prosecution to fill gaps in its evidence at the first trial, even where the conviction is vitiated by a mistake of the trial court for which the prosecution is not to blame it does not necessarily follow that a retrial should be ordered. Each case must depend on its peculiar facts and circumstances and an order for retrial should only be made where the interest of justice require it and should not be ordered where it is likely to cause any injustice to the accused person”

In respect of this case, I find and hold that, the original trial was defective in that the appellant was convicted inter-alia with distribution and sale, an offence he was not charged with. Equally an offence unknown to the law. In addition thereto the trial does not conform with Section 169 of the Criminal Procedure Code.

Accordingly, I quash the conviction, set aside the sentence and order that the matter do proceed for retrial before the Ag Senior Principal Magistrate, Malindi, or any other magistrate in Malindi with competent jurisdiction.

A certified copy of this order to be served upon the Senior Resident Magistrate Kilifi.

DATED AND DELIVERED AT MALINDI THIS 6th DAY OF September 2007
